GREATEST OF ALL DAYS IS COMING

Final Details Are Completed For the Monster Republican Rally on Saturday, November 5.

COMMITTEES ARE APPOINTED

Five Bands, Drum Corps, Two Speaks and Parade of Floats, and Clubs Will be Features.

On every hand activity rules in the Republican ranks. Not only is the county committee putting forth every effort to gain Republican votes, but all over Rush county, the loyal members of the G. O. P. are shaping the final details for the monster rally to be held here, Saturday, November fifth, the last Saturday before the election, when Albert J. Beveridge will speak in the afternoon and James E. Watson will deliver an address in the evening.

The big parade which will be held at 10:30 o'clock on the morning of the big day, is expected to be the feature attraction. It is now believed that the rally will outshine any previous attempt, as arrangements are being completed early to perfect every detail of the organization. Band music and drum corps will enliven the occasion, fancy turnouts, township floats and delegations and marching clubs will make up a part of the parade.

It is planned to make the rivalry keen for the best township delegation. The township which makes the best showing in the parade with the decorations and numbers will be awarded a large woolen flag. Five bands of music and several drum corps have been engaged so that there will be no lack of demonstrations. As many fancy turnouts and vehicles as possible will be arranged for and every loyal Republican is heartily urged to get in line and make the day a memorable one in the history of the Republican party in Rush county. School children, laboring men, farmers, business men, professional men and women are requested to take part in the celebration and make it the greatest one ever held in Rushville. All of the old time stunts of former campaigns will be revived and many new and novel ones will be added. Verne Norris, the county chairman, will be pleased to receive any suggestions to be used in preparing for the day.

It is requested that the various townships form their organizations for the rally and forward the names of their committees for publication.

Arrangements have practically been made for excursions on all roads from all points near here and it is probable that a special train service will be arranged for the L. E. & W. so that people in that vicinity may be able to get here.

Capt. J. M. Gwin has been appointed grand marshal of the day. The other committees have been named, as given below, the chairman always being placed first. It is requested that the chairmen of the various committees meet with the county chairman Thursday evening at Republican headquarters. The committees follow:

Grand Marshal,
CAPT. J. M. GWIN.
Soldiers Committee,
Jabez Smith Frank Redman
John M. Plough.
Aids-de-Camp,
Ab. Denning Frank Sparks
Homer Powell Glen Miller
O. M. Dale O. L. Carr
Wm. Bliss Clell Maple
W. H. Amos J. V. Young
Guy Gordon Homer Havens

SEEKS LEGAL SEPARATION

Mrs. Ethel Smith of Knightstown Files Suit For Divorce.

Ethel Smith of Knightstown desires to be freed from the marital yoke, says the New Castle Courier. Thomas, her husband, she alleges abused her shamefully and refused and failed to make provision for her. Five years ago he ran away with a woman named Laura Grills, and at last accounts was living with her in Richmond. One night Tom brought Laura to his home in Knightstown and insisted that his wife cook supper for her. Mrs. Smith refused to do it. Tom and his paramour are now supposed to be some place in Missouri.

IS RELATED TO FAMOUS AVIATOR

Horace Wellman of This City and Walter Wellman Came From the Same Family.

IS MAKING A GREAT FLIGHT

Walter Wellman, the famous explorer, writer and aviator, who is now on his way across the Atlantic ocean in his large dirigible balloon America, has relatives in this city. Horace Wellman says that he and Walter are related, but he does not know exactly what the relation is. The Wellmans originally came from Scotland. Walter and Horace came from that branch of the family which settled around Akron, Ohio. Wellman is establishing a wonderful record for air navigation by his long flight.

FORMER RUSHVILLE HORSE WINS RACE

HAS HAD SUCCESSFUL SEASON

Lady Richmond, the fast pacing mare owned by Mayor Armstrong and Company of this village, yesterday won the 2:21 pacing race at Hughesville, Pa., in straight heats, says the Oswego, N. Y., Free Press, and Daily Record. John Hal from the Grand circuit won second and Edwin L. third. Lady Richmond has been making good during the past season and will be returned here for winter quarters. She was purchased by C.H. Camp from Clell Maple, county recorder at Rushville, Ind., and from him sold to the Owego parties. In this last race she went in 2:15, 2:16½ and 2:15¼, and is fully capable of going in 2:10.

Lady Richmond raced very successfully last year for Clell Maple and at that time Maple said that aside from wearing the hobbles she was the equal of and had shown for her work as much speed as the great race mare Aileen Wilson (2:02¼), that he raced three years prior to selling her to Dick Wilson. Maple predicted Lady Richmond could go in 2:12 over a half-mile track last year and also says she will get a better record than her great race horse sire, New Richmond, 2:07. Lady Richmond has been winning from one to two races each week since August 8, and has won first money in some ten or twelve races.

DAMAGE SUIT BOBS UP AGAIN

City of Rushville Must Defend Itself For Second Time in the Courts.

IS IN HANCOCK COUNTY NOW

Morrow $5,000 Damage Suit Was Won by City in Shelby County—New Trial Granted.

Due to the fact that they were once members of the city's legislative and judicial departments, Former Mayor Harvey Cowing, all of the members of the city council who gave up their seats last January and Former City Clerk Grant Gregg journeyed to Greenfield yesterday to act as witnesses in the case of Emma Morrow against the city of Rushville for five thousand dollars damages. Former City Attorney George Young was also among the members of the former city administration who went to the Hancock county seat.

The suit has been in the courts for several years and has been a weight on the shoulders of the city council during that time. There has been no end to the litigation, as the case has come up for hearing on two different occasions. The suit was first filed in the Rush circuit court, but was never given a hearing. On the motion of one of the parties in the suit, it was sent to Shelby county on a change of venue by Judge Sparks. There it came up for a hearing and the city won after a two days' trial. The plaintiff filed a motion for a new trial and it was granted. Then the suit was sent to Hancock county, where it is now being tried.

The hearing of the damage suit was begun in the Hancock circuit court yesterday about noon and continued throughout the afternoon. The hearing continued today and it is thought that it will not be completed before tomorrow morning. The members of the former city administration were in Greenfield all night and will probably be compelled to remain there again tonight.

It will be remembered that the accident over which the litigation started occurred in West Ninth street in August, 1908. Miss Morrow, the plaintiff, who was then employed as a domestic in the Owen L. Carr home, alleges that she was driving one evening about dusk and that the horse ran into a ditch where the city had been making improvements. She charges that the horse ran into a rope but that there was no light there to warn her of the danger. She declares that the buggy was upset and that she was thrown into the street, suffering painful injuries from which, she avers, she has never fully recovered.

The case is being heard by Special Judge E. J. Binford of Greenfield before a jury. Howard E. Barrett, city attorney of Rushville, assisted by Young & Young and a law firm of Greenfield are conducting the defense for the city.

ATHLETICS WIN SECOND.

Philadelphia won from Chicago this afternoon by the score of 9 to 3 in the second game of the world's championship series at Philadelphia, according to a telegram received at Lytle's drug store. The Cubs failed to connect for more than eight bingles, while the Athletics made fourteen hits. The American leaguers chalked up four errors while the Nationals made only three.

CLIMBS UP IN BUSINESS WORLD

Charles F. Schattner, Son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schattner, Gains Prominence.

IS DIRECTOR IN $50,000 STORE

It reads like a novel, the story of how Charles Schattner, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schattner of West Fifth street, has, in an incredibly short space of time, climbed from the rank of a wood cutter in a furniture factory to a position as one of the directors of one of the largest department stores in Idaho. Mr. Schattner is now one of the directors of the Interstate Mercantile Company, Limited, at Coeur d'Alene, Idaho, with a capitalized stock of fifty thousand dollars. He has charge of the gents' furnishing department of the business.

Young Schattner spent the early part of his life here and was employed at the Innis-Pearce furniture factory as a wood cutter. After learning the business he went to Spokane, Wash. It was eleven years ago that he left here and now he has an important position in the business world. After working in Spokane for two or three years, Schattner went out on a strike with the wood cutters and, failing to get his position back, went to the city, where he is now in business. He obtained a position with the firm, of which he is now a member and gradually worked up until he gained the place which he now holds. A paper from that city says of the recent organization:

One of the newest business houses of the city, but one already forging ahead in popularity with the masses of the purchasing public is the Interstate Mercantile Company, Limited, whose establishment is in the Otterson block on Sherman street between Second and Third. The company was organized with a capital stock of $50,000 on August 20, 1910, at which time the merchandise and assets of the Winn-Barr-Chainey company were turned over to it.

The officers of the Interstate Mercantile company are: President, R. J. Grove, formerly a prominent business man of Martinsville, Indiana; secretary and treasurer, S. A. Wells of this city, formerly a heavy stockholder in the Winn-Barr-Chainey concern; the directors are R. J. Grove, Charles F. Schattner and J. E. Babcock.

These gentlemen stand high in the business circles of Coeur d'Alene and northern Idaho, and the firm already holds an enviable position in the community. Organized for the purpose of doing a general mercantile business, the concern exhibits that enterprise and stability that characterize the better houses of the country.

The store itself is roomy, clean and nicely arranged to accommodate the various departments. In one of the main sections are included the dry goods and ladies' furnishings; in the other are the shoes for men, women and children; the men's furnishings and the big grocery department. Clothing made to order is a prominent feature of the business and already is in a prosperous condition. Another department is devoted to the retailing of feed and fuel.

At the head of each department the management has succeeded in placing a competent man, one who might rightly be considered an expert in his particular line; while a corps of agreeable and proficient clerks of both sexes are ever ready to serve the trade.

Coeur d'Alene is proud of her many institutions, social, political and mercantile, but of none can she speak with more real pride than of the Interstate. This company, in turn, believes that a grand future is in store for the beautiful little city by the lake and is ever ready and willing to "give a hand" toward the betterment of the community.

The individual members of the company are, in their personal capacities as well, boosters for all that is good and beneficial to the city or the State at large and by voice and purse show that they are not among that class to be found in almost every community who believe that to stand still is the proper thing.

MARRIED IN INDIANAPOLIS

Young Colored People Surprise Their Friends Here.

According to the Indianapolis Star a marriage license was issued there yesterday afternoon to Miss Jessie Ransom and Ray Williams, young colored people of this city. The marriage came as a surprise to their friends here, who knew nothing of their plans. Miss Ransom lived with her uncle, Sam Backner. Mr. Williams has been employed for some time at the Windsor hotel.

VETERAN AERONAUT IS HURT IN FALL

John Innis Suffers Broken Arm When he Tumbles Off Scaffold at the Goddard School House.

HAS HAD MANY FRACTURES

After John Innis made balloon ascensions this summer, sailing hundreds of feet into the air and alighting without breaking a bone, he climbed up on a scaffold at the Goddard school house yesterday, fell off and broke his left arm. The fracture is not of a very serious nature and will mend in a few weeks. Mr. Innis was only a few feet above the floor when he lost his balance and fell. He was papering the walls of the school building when the accident occurred. The veteran balloonist has already had a number of bones in his body broken from falls while riding in the clouds.

OPEN THEIR CAMPAIGN

Finly Gray, Democratic Candidate For Congress, Speaks at Arlington.

The Democratic campaign was formally opened in this county last evening, when Finly Gray, mayor of Connersville and candidate for congress from this district, delivered an address at Arlington. Several politicians from this city attended. The Democratic "headliner" will be the speech to be delivered by Governor Marshall in the Davis Brothers' barn Thursday evening, October 27. Samuel Ralston will speak at the K. of P. building November 2.

FAILS TO CROSS OCEAN.

According to a special dispatch received by the Daily Republican late this afternoon, Walter Wellman, the New York balloonist and former newspaper man, who attempted to cross the Atlantic ocean in a dirigible balloon, was rescued, together with his crew, in mid ocean by a steamship today and is now on his way to New York.

WEATHER IDEAL FOR CURING CORN

Last Week's Frost Came Just in Time to Put Crop in Excellent Condition.

IT IS RIPENING FAST NOW

Big Rain Two Weeks Ago Prepared Ground For Present Weather—Wheat Generally Sown.

If the farmers of Indiana had the power within themselves to regulate the weather they could hardly have it more to their satisfaction than it has been during the last few weeks. And they are victims of the alleged "unrest" that is said to prevail throughout the country one would naturally like to know what it is that they would have to better conditions. Providence is surely smiling on them and things are working out about as well, it would appear, as anyone could wish for. The heavy frost of Thursday and Friday nights was greeted by the farmers with delight, as it was the kind of a frost which will put the corn in condition to be cut. The corn is very late this year, and the rains and continued warm weather of September have kept it green.

The frost of Thursday night was interfered with a rather heavy fog which arose late in the night. This fog melted the frost and it did not have as much effect as it would have had otherwise. The corn will be large in spite of the early reports which were given out.

In June and July, when rain was needed badly, it was predicted that the corn would be ruined. This, however, did not prove to be the case, and the crop in many parts of the country is as good or better than the average. The ears are for the most part large and the kernels are nicely sized.

Most of the winter wheat has been sown, and many farmers just finished before the rains. The sowing of wheat was delayed until rather late this year for several reasons, but there is no doubt that the crop will be first class.

EX-GOVERNOR WILL MAKE SPEECH HERE

Winfield T. Durbin of Anderson Will Deliver Republican Address Saturday Evening.

MANY FRIENDS IN RUSHVILLE

Winfield T. Durbin of Anderson, ex-governor of Indiana, will make a Republican speech in the Knights of Pythias building next Saturday evening. Old politicians in Rush county will remember Mr. Durbin as an orator of much ability. He took an active part in the campaign, speaking in his own behalf, when he was a candidate and was eventually elected governor. Since he retired from the governor's chair, Mr. Durbin has taken a very active interest in politics and has always been on the firing line. The former governor is a very intimate friend of John K. Gowdy, former consul general to France and comes here every year for Mr. Gowdy's annual squirrel hunt. Local politicians are looking forward to his speech with much interest.

Born to the wife of Charles Levi this morning at their home in Market street, an eight pound girl.

Silence!

The instinct of modesty natural to every woman is often a great hindrance to the cure of womanly diseases. Women shrink from the personal questions of the local physician which seem indecent. The thought of examination is abhorrent to them, and so they endure in silence a condition of disease which surely progresses from bad to worse.

It has been Dr. Pierce's privilege to cure a great many women who have found a refuge for modesty in his offer of FREE consultation by letter. All correspondence is held as sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription restores and regulates the womanly functions, abolishes pain and builds up and puts the finishing touch of health on every weak woman who gives it a fair trial.

FOUR TO ONE IS INITIAL SCORE

And It Was In Favor of the Athletics.

CUBS FELL BY THE WAYSIDE

Opening Game of the World's Series Was Witnessed by 26,891 Persons, Who Saw the Philadelphia Team Handily Take the First Game Looking to the Acquisition of the Pennant.

At Philadelphia— R.H.E.
Cubs..... 0 0 0 0 0 0 1—1 3 1
Athletics... 0 2 1 0 0 0 1 *—4 7 2
Batteries—Overall, McIntyre, and Kling; Bender and Thomas.

Philadelphia, Oct. 18.—Big Orval Overall got a worse pounding yesterday afternoon from the Athletics' swatters than ever he got from the Stanford footballers back in those college days when the big "C" he wore stood for California and not Chicago. The Philadelphians beat him up in three innings and got runs enough to stay away the first game of the series for the world's championship, four runs to one. Collegian Bender, who used to wear a Carlisle "C," had the Indian sign on the Cubs, the National League champions. Bender was there with terrific speed, and he clipped the corners for batter after batter. For eight innings he pitched so well that it looked as if Frank Schulte's single in the first inning would be the total of the Cubs' clouting. But the Cubs are not easy to stop and their rally in the ninth was very near a tying one. They got two hits off Chief Al and with an error made a run of it, but Bender made one strike out, another roll to the second baseman, and still another hit into a force, so the rally perished a-borning.

It was a game worthy of the opening of the momentous struggle. The Cubs, masters of inside and outside baseball, mighty on the paths and terrific with the bats, were a tame lot almost all the way. They could not get to Bender, and they found that the Athletic defense was pretty near impregnable. The Mack men would not make errors, and they handled everything in fine style. And as for catchers, why, Thomas to Collins turned back Frank Schulte, twice, and he was the only one of the Cubs who tried to steal. And what's more, the only stolen base of the game is credited to Murphy of the Athletics, so the early predictions that Kling would turn them all back were not verified.

The surprise of the contest was the pitching of Harry McIntyre, whom the Cubs got from the Brooklyn a while ago. It must have wrenched the feelings of his ex-boss, Charley Ebbets, who was there, to see the way McIntyre handled the situation. The Athletics got one hit off him in the five innings he was on the slab. To be sure, that one hit was a double that almost flew to the right field fence, and it drove in Eddie Collins, who was on third because Mac gave him a base on balls and then threw wild to catch him napping at first. That was the only time McIntyre was not in good form, but the three events coming in sequence accounted for a run. Mac, however, showed form most of the way, that made it appear he would have done good execution had he been in the box all the time. However, he was not, and for the Athletics it was a bully good game.

Cold fact requires it to be said that the attendance was not 50,000, but 26,891; that is to say, those were the paid admissions. The total receipts were $7,424.50. Of this the players' share is $2,209.23; each club gets $6,736.41, and the national commission's percentage is $3,724.45.

Ground rules were observed on hits into the crowd. They counted for two bases only. That was tough on Lord in the third inning, for he stung one that would have been a homer had it not rolled off a little to the right of center in the very fringe of the crowd there. The game did not begin until 2:15, because there was a long wrangle over the moving-picture men who had their machines on the field. It appears that Ban Johnson, the American League president, gave them permission to stay there.

Umpire Connolly, however, would not let a man stay in behind the plate, as the picture man wanted to. This occasioned a lot of wrangling, but Connolly won out. Some dreadful fate probably awaits him for thus defying Johnson, but the public was with him.

POOL IS OFF

The 1910 Crop of Tobacco to Be Put on Open Market.

Lexington, Ky., Oct. 18.—The district board of the Burley Tobacco Society has officially declared off the pool of the 1910 crop. The independent pool launched in Scott county ceases to exist with the Burley pool, a signed declaration committing its founders to a no-pool policy. The effect will be the release of all tobacco under contract, and predictions were that a vast quantity would be on the market. Reason for this action as given in the resolution, was the presence of the large number of buyers put into the field by a leading tobacco company.

FLORIDA COAST IN PATH OF HURRICANE

Details Expected to Show Great Loss of Life.

Jacksonville, Fla., Oct. 18.—Advises received here indicate that the east and west coasts of Florida have been harried by one of the worst hurricanes in history. After having apparently passed to northward, the hurricane recurved and struck Key West furiously. Key West reported wind blowing 80 miles an hour and much damage done. Later all communication with Key West was lost and the damage done the island city is only problematical.

Tampa reported wind of hurricane velocity and great damage done to small craft. Advances from the east coast are ominous. The extension work on the Florida East Coast railway has been greatly damaged and a grade train is reported swept away north of Key West. How many laborers perished when the train was carried away is not known.

At St. Augustine the wind drove the waves over the seawall and a portion of the city was flooded. It is feared that the details will show great loss of life on both east and west coasts.

Foodless and Homeless.

Havana, Oct. 18.—Throughout the provinces of Havana and Pinar del Rio not only is the tobacco crop wiped out, but the minor crops, on which the Cubans depend for food, are also destroyed, together with houses and barns, leaving the natives foodless and homeless.

THE PARIS STRIKE

Latest Development Is the Activity of the Women.

Paris, Oct. 18.—There has been a decrease in the acts of vandalism committed by strikers or their sympathizers, and an increase in the number of arrests. Among those taken into custody is Bidament, the most militant advocate of a general railway strike. A new feature of the strike was the holding of a meeting by 700 women. They attempted to make a manifestation after the meeting, but the police dispersed them. They planned to meet at the railway stations in order to dissuade the men from returning to work, but the police forbade their lingering outside the stations.

A NOTABLE LIFE CALMLY CLOSED

Mrs. Julia Ward Howe Dead At Age of 91.

BATTLE HYMN OF THE REPUBLIC

As the Author of the Inspiring Hymn Which Still Stirs the Blood Like a Trumpet Call, the Fame of Mrs. Howe Will Endure Long After Her Labors For Abolition and Woman's Suffrage Are Forgotten.

Middletown, R. I., Oct. 18.—Mrs. Julia Ward Howe, author of the "Battle Hymn of the Republic," is dead at her summer home here, aged ninety-one years.

The three daughters of the aged authoress, Mrs. Florence Howe Hall, Mrs. Laura Richards and Mrs. John Elliott, were gathered about the bedside of their mother when she came. John Elliott, her son-in-law, was also present. Death was due to heart failure, resulting from advanced age and a severe cold recently contracted.

Julia Ward Howe's life had epitomized the notable movements of her time, and her outlook upon humanity was fresh and hopeful to the day of her death. Oliver Wendell Holmes said of her on her seventieth birthday, "To be seventy years young is far more cheerful and hopeful than to be forty years old."

William Dean Howells she considered to be the most representative American at the end of the Nineteenth century. Henry James had lived so long abroad that he could hardly be called representatively American, although he was a beautiful and finished writer. "The Battle Hymn of the Republic" she liked best of her own writings—not the best in a literary sense, but as bringing more satisfaction to her. Long after Julia Ward Howe's labors for abolition and woman's suffrage are forgotten, her fame will endure as the author of that inspiring hymn which stirs the blood yet like a trumpet call.

She was twenty-three years old and on a visit to friends in Boston when she met Dr. Samuel Gridley Howe of Boston, who became her husband. With Longfellow and Charles Sumner she was visiting the Perkins institute for the blind in order to meet Laura Bridgman. Mr. Sumner, looking out of a window, called, "Oh, here comes Howe on a black horse."

"I beheld," said she, "a noble rider on a noble horse."

They were married that year. They went to Europe immediately and Mrs. Howe was received as the wife of the "New Bayard." Howe's heroic labors for Greece in her struggle for independence, his devotion to the education of the blind and activity in the anti-slavery movement had won for him that title. They found, on returning to Boston, that the city was a hot-bed of fermenting ideas. Transcendentalism, abolition and liberal thought in religion were discussed by the Howes with Garrison, Wendell Phillips, Sumner, Agassiz, Lowell and many others. Julia Ward formed a friendship for Theodore Parker, not generally liked at that time, a friendship which continued until his death. He assisted Dr. Howe in pushing the anti-slavery paper, the Commonwealth. She wrote poems, articles for periodicals, a five-act blank verse play, "The World's Own," produced at Wallick's in 1855. She wrote "Hippolytus" for Edwin Booth, but it never saw the light. She made excursions into the fields of philosophy, ethics, religion and poetry.

During the war she was a leader in the intellectual life of the nation. She accompanied Dr. Howe to Europe several times and made trips to Cuba and Santo Domingo. She endeavored to interest the women of the world in a movement for peace, seeking to assemble a great peace congress.

Dr. Howe died Jan. 9, 1876, and she became identified with a cause which she came to look on as the foremost question of the time—the political enfranchisement of women. She was one of the founders of the New England Women's club. She gave forty years of her life to gracious and dignified work to the cause of suffrage. She lent it the dignity of a gracious and brave presence.

Consul-General Mansfield Makes brief Talk on Golf

In speaking of a festival at Lucerne, Switzerland, where Consul-General Mansfield, who married Miss Fanny Gowdy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John K. Gowdy of North Perkins street made a brief talk, the English Herald and Swiss Illustrated says:

A banquet was given by the Lucerne Golf Club at the Hotel National, Lucerne, on Monday of last week when a large number of ladies and gentlemen interested in Continental golf gathered to honour Mr. A. H. Crosfield M. P., and Colonel C. C. Woodward, President and Honorary Secretary respectively of the Swiss and Central Europe Golf Association, who were the guests of the evening.

During the evening Consul-General Mansfield delighted his audience with a speech full of racy wit and humorous anecdote. In referring to the work that Mr. Crosfield and Colonel Woodward, supported by Colonel de Pflyffer, Mr. March, Mr. Morgan and others, had done for golf on the Continent and especially in Switzerland, he said that it was in the Hotel National at Lucerne that seven years ago they first formed the Swiss Golf Association, which they nursed through its infancy and through its troubles—troubles and ailments inseparable from childhood, the whooping cough, the mumps and the measles—of which the Association, like children, had had its share. But he referred to these in the past tense because the Swiss Golf Association had survived the troubles of childhood and had reached the age of youth and hope and promise, having recently taken an enlarged and amplified name to meet the requirements of that larger sphere of usefulness which its original founders, Colonel Gordon Evans, the late Mr. Govett (then Captain of the Montreux Golf Club), Mr. A. H. Crosfield and Mr. March, had in view. Mr. Crosfield and Colonel Woodward had, by their efforts, done a very great deal to make golf on the Continent what is now was—no longer merely a local game, but an almost universal pastime in so many parts of Europe. He would therefore ask the company to join him in drinking the health of two good sportsmen, good fellows, and good golfers, their guests of the evening, Mr. Crosfield and Colonel Woodward.

LIQUID CURES ECZEMA WHERE SALVE FAILS

In regard to skin diseases medical authorities are now agreed on this: Don't imprison the disease germs in your skin by the use of greasy salves, and thus encourage them to multiply. A true cure of all eczematous diseases can be brought about only by using the healing agents in the form of a liquid. WASH THE GERMS OUT. A simple wash: A compound of Oil of Wintergreen, Thymol, and other ingredients as combined in the D. D. D. Prescription, penetrates to the disease germs and destroys it, then soothes and heals the skin as nothing else has ever done. A 25-cent trial bottle will start the cure, and give you instant relief.

CATARRH SUFFERERS

Good Things to Know.

If you now own a Hyomei hard rubber inhaler Johnson's Drug Store wants you to know that they will sell you a bottle of HYOMEI for only 50 cents.

Remember this, all who suffer with catarrh—a bottle of HYOMEI (pronounce it High-o-me) is put up in a separate package and sold for 50 cents, to accommodate the vast army of people who already own a Hyomei inhaler.

Johnson's Drug Store will sell it to you at that price and give you the opportunity to begin at once to rid yourself of vile catarrh and the snuffling, hawking and spitting that go with it.

Many people through years of neglect have let catarrh get a strong hold upon them. Some of these people unreasonably think that one bottle of HYOMEI ought to cure them.

No matter how chronic your catarrh troubles, HYOMEI is guaranteed by Johnson's Drug Store to cure them if you give it half a chance. Just breathe it, that's all, and its healing, soothing, antiseptic properties will make you feel better in a day.

If you own an inhaler get a 50 cent bottle of HYOMEI at Johnsons Drug Store today. If you do not own a Hyomei inhaler, ask for a $1.00 outfit, which includes inhaler.

Li Hung's Costly Tca.

Li Hung Chang, when entertaining, used tea worth $50 a pound. In comparison, what priceless value has Dr. King's New Health Tea, that cures Constipation, Kidney Trouble, Backache, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, and fills you with new health, strength and vigor. But it's only 25c. at F. B. Johnson & Co.

To Restrict Auto Drivers

The Indianapolis News thus editorially comments on dangers from automobile drivers who are not fully competent:

"It is not enough to arrest and fine fast motor drivers. There is danger to pedestrians and to street traffic generally from reckless and inexperienced driving. One sees every day cars driven by persons who know nothing about driving except to guide the car. Before the city issues a chauffeur's license to a man or woman is should require a rigid examination to be sure that the applicant knows how to manipulate a car under all conditions. Else there is no safety for anyone. In European cities a license is given only after proof to manage his car. No children are allowed to drive and no one under eighteen can get a license. But in our streets we see boys and girls from twelve years up driving cars. The mere running of a car is simple. But to be able to guide a car in crowded streets or to pass another car with instant good judgment in a sudden emergency, likely at any moment to occur, requires skill and fine training. Until we keep untrained motor drivers off our streets there will be unnecessary danger for all who use the streets. The large eastern cities found that out some time ago. We hope our city also will learn the lesson and act accordingly.

The Imperial Universal Three Flue Base Burner

The Most Economical
The Most Powerful
The Most Durable

The Most Economical because it burns less coal than any other Base Burner on the market.

The Most Powerful because it will heat more space than any other Base Burner of the same size fire bowl with less amount of coal.

The Most Durable because it is made by the best skilled workmen and the very best material that can be obtained.

Any Base Burner Will Burn Coal

and any Base Burner will heat your ceiling. But what you want is a Base Burner that will heat your floor. We positively guarantee the Imperial Universal to be a perfect floor heater and will heat your floor more uniformly and with less fuel than any other Base Burner made. It costs no more than any other high grade Base Burner and will pay for itself in a few years in economy of fuel.
The Imperial Universal Base Burner has Patent Duplex grates with outside shaking ring which operates on Ball Bearings, working easily with practically no friction and will not bind nor stick when stove is hot.
All Mica Doors, Ash Pit Doors, Swing Top, Main Top and automatic magazine cover, are machine faced so as to prevent any leakage of gas. All niddle parts, Fire Bowl, Duplex Grates, Mica Doors, Magazine and Magazine Covers can be easily removed without taking out a bolt or a screw, thus making it very easy for two men to carry the stove anywhere.
Come in and let us demonstrate this stove to you and you will be convinced as well as we are that it is the Greatest Improved and Best Stove on the market.

Wall street's only experience in animal industry is shearing the lamb and riding the elephant, but somehow it thinks it can drive the donkey successfully.

One reads much about the necktie workers' sufferings. How about the sufferings of the public compelled to wear ties built to fit the complexion of a lobster?

The commission form of government is gaining many friends, but it can't be generally adopted because it would compel the politicians to go to work with their hands.

The government will investigate carefully the causes of the explosion of the Maine, which seems to be locking the stable door when no one is interested in the dead horse but the undertaker.

The "tip inquiry" in the city of Indianapolis is finally ended and everybody has been acquitted of any charge, including Mayor Shank. The mayor of that city can now live in peace—for a little while at least.

The streets of Shelbyville were thronged Sunday by drunken men. Profanity abounded, run riot and the scene was one which should at least make some people sit up and take notice.—Shelbyville Republican.

Shelbyville is a dry town, you know.

Many Democrats throughout the country signify their intention of voting the Republican ticket at the coming election. They give as a reason for their determination that they have made more money farming the last year than they had ever made before and do not want to risk a change of administration.

Now that a bumper corn crop has been assured, the prosperity of the year 1910 may be considered firmly established. This being so, the American people have cause to feel grateful. There are economic conditions that can be bettered and to such betterment thoughtful statesmanship

MAKES FORECAST FOR CONGRESS

Success Magazine Places Four Indiana Districts in Doubtful

Column This Year.

SIXTH IS AMONG THE NUMBER

Only Names Thirteen Unsettled Districts in United States—Interest Centered Here.

The Success Magazine sends out a preliminary forecast of the Congressional election of 1910, obtained between September 20th and October 8th, from fifteen thousand (out of twenty-five thousand) members of that magazine's Auxiliary Editorial Board of Life Subscribers.

The following is a summary of the forecast:

Republicans, 160.
Democrats, 168.
Close, probably Republican, 29.
Close, probably Democratic, 21.
Total, probably Republican, 189.
Total, probably Democratic, 189.
Doubtful, 13.

The forecast for Indiana is as follows:

1. John W. Boehne, D.
2. William A. Cullop, D.
3. William E. Cox, D.
4. Lincoln Dixon, D.
5. Ralph W. Moss, D.
6. William O. Barnard, R.; F. H. Gray, D.—Doubtful.

7. Linden A. Cox, R.; Charles A. Korbly, D.—Doubtful.

8. John A. M. Adair, D.
9. Edward E. Neal, R.; Martin A. Morrison, D.—Doubtful.

10. Edgar D. Crumpacker, R.
11. John L. Thompson, R.; George W. Rauch, D.—Doubtful.

12. Cyrus Cline, D.
13. Henry A. Barnhart, D.

Among the thirteen doubtful districts in the country the result in which will probably settle the balance of power of the next House, three Indiana districts are mentioned.

The Seventh Indiana district, now represented by a Democrat (Korbly), who won the last election by only 683 votes out of 70,000 cast.

The Ninth Indiana district, now represented by a Democrat (Morrison) who won the last election by 1,100 votes out of 56,000 cast.

The Eleventh Indiana district, now represented by a Democrat (Rauch), who won the last election by 1,200 votes out of 53,000 cast.

According to this forecast, the Success Magazine says the next House of Representatives will be almost exactly in even balance. The probabilities are slightly in favor of a Republican majority of two or three, but it is impossible to predict with certainty at this writing (October 8) which of the two parties will organize the House.

There will be a large increase in the Democratic membership, but there will be no Democratic "land-slide."

The explanation of this rather unexpected result appears to be that the Progressive wing of the Republican party has come into power at the primaries in a very large proportion of the Republican districts, while in many of the districts where the stand-pat element retains control of the Republican machine, the normal Republican pluralities are so large that the stand-pat candidates are likely to succeed, although by greatly reduced majorities. Both wings of the party are now diligently engaged in their historic occupation of "burying the hatchet."

In other words, the heretofore generally expected Democratic success in the closer districts of the country has been put in jeopardy by the nomination of more or less popular insurgent Republican candidates, and information received by us indicates that there will be little Republican bolting in such districts.

SUPPOSED MAD DOG DEAD.

A dog owned by John Kemper, south of Gwynneville, died a few days ago. The animal was thought to have been mad. It was bitten by the Howell dog which caused the scare in that vicinity several weeks ago and had been penned up since that time.

AMUSEMENTS

The Star Grand offers a Kalem subject tonight entitled "The Japanese Spy." In this picture the Kalem players offer a character study which is one of the most original and expressive yet produced and the strength of the play is greatly augmented by the fact that the scenes which are supposed to be located in Japan are enacted by genuine Japanese. The purpose of the story is to show the extreme nationalism of the Japanese and to portray the willingness of every subject of the Mikado to die for his country if necessary, his death being a great honor rather than a calamity to his family. This picture play points out a situation that has been discussed by every well informed officer of the United States army and navy and one recognized not only as possible, but common. Earl Robertson will sing "Waltz me Till I'm Weary, Dearie."

No dramatic offering of the present season has occasioned greater interest than "The Sixth Commandment" which will be presented at English's opera house, Indianapolis, tonight, tomorrow night and Thursday with a splendid cast of New York players. The play, while it runs the gamut of sprightly comedy to tense tragedy, is a vigorous piece of work and leaves an impression that will not be easily forgotten. In a recent review a prominent Eastern critic had the following to say: "It is a most extraordinary play and it is a high tribute to the actors that all during the action of the play they had the utmost and undivided attention of the audience, but it was at the climax of the third act that the tension became so great that more than one person gave a gasp of relief as the act came to an end. It is like no other play ever written and its influence is bound to be felt beyond the walls of the theater."

The Vaudet will offer one of the big Imps for its patrons tonight. "Old Heads and Young Hearts" is said to be one of the best productions which has been offered in recent weeks. It is a comedy with enough pathos in it to make it interesting. A new illustrated song will be sung.

The Palace will have for tonight a Kalem film telling the story of that famous Indian classic, "The Conspiracy of Pontiac." Throughout the story is woven a love romance involving an Indian girl and the commander of Fort Detroit. A new illustrated song will be sung.

What Tonics Are.

When the papers are full of advertisements for this or that great tonic, people are apt to be tempted to try them, but it does not take long to discover that after all there is nothing equal to Seline Pills for any form of nerve weakness in men and women. We seldom find anybody who can say he or she was cured by this or that wine, extract or liquor, but almost any one can testify to the great nerve and body building qualities of Seline Pills. Seline Pills are absolutely guaranteed. Each box has a cash coupon in it. They cost $1 a box, 6 boxes for $5. Four months' treatment for $5. Sold by Hargrove & Mullin, druggists where they sell all the principal remedies and do not substitute.

LORD LOVELAND DISCOVERS AMERICA

Lesley did not go back to her sofa and her story writing. She picked up the paper which Mrs. Loveland had left lying on the table, but she did not read. She went to the desk where she kept papers and took a check book from a drawer.

"No, that won't do," she said to herself after thinking for a minute. She put the check book back in its place and opened another drawer, not locked, for neither drawers nor cupboards nor hearts were ever locked in this old fashioned Kentucky house.

The second drawer was full of greenbacks. Perhaps it was a kind of savings bank for the young author; but, poor or rich, authors are proverbially easy about parting with their earnings, and southern born Lesley was no exception to the rule.

She counted out a number of bills—more than half—folded them up in a blank sheet of paper torn off the writing pad, that there might be no address upon it, and pressed the flattened parcel into a large, stout envelope. This she sealed with blue sealing wax and after a moment or two of puzzled reflection began to print in big black letters:

THE MARQUIS OF LOVELAND,
WALDORF-ASTORIA HOTEL,
NEW YORK.

To be sent immediately to present address.

CHAPTER XV.

THE MARQUIS OF TWELFTH STREET.
It was Isidora who found out first what was in her father's mind, because she saw the advertisement which Alexander the Great had written for the papers. It lay on the parlor table in clear black and white for any eye to read when Isidora came to clear away the litter of odds and ends that Emma, the hired girl, might

"It Beats All."

This is quoted from a letter of M. Stockwell, Hannibal, Mo., "I recently used Foley's Honey and Tar for the first time. To say I am pleased does not half express my feelings. It beats all the remedies I ever used. I contracted a bad cold and was threatened with pneumonia. The first dose gave great relief and one bottle completely cured me." Contains no opiates. WELL KNOWN MINISTER

Restored to Health by Vinol.

Rev. D. Schneider, who is a well-known minister in Rice Lake, Wis., writes:

"I had a very severe stomach trouble last year from which I was kept in bed three months. I had engaged the services of a doctor, but to no avail. I then read of Vinol and determined to try a bottle. Before it was used up I was out of bed, and four bottles made me a well man. Vinol is a splendid medicine and I can gladly recommend it."

Prominent men from all over the country do not hesitate to indorse this wonderful tonic.

For twelve years Vinol has been sold on the "money back" plan and every year strengthens its popularity and proves by continued tests that it will do what we claim for it. F. B. Johnson & Co., Druggists, Rushville, Ind.

Capt. Bogardus Again Hits The Bull's Eye.

This world famous rifle shot who holds the championship record of 100 pigeons in 100 consecutive shots is living at Lincoln, Ill. Recently interviewed, he says: "I suffered a long time with kidney and bladder trouble and used several well known medicines, all of which gave me no relief until I started taking Foley Kidney Pills. Before I used Foley Kidney Pills I had severe backaches and pains in my kidneys with suppression and a cloudy voiding. On arising in the morning I would get dull headaches. Now I have taken three bottles of Foley Kidney Pills and feel 100 per cent better. I am never bothered with my kidneys or bladder and again feel like my own self." For sale by F. B. Johnson.

lay the dinner things.

"Oh, pa," she gasped, "is that what you're going to do? He won't stand being advertised."

"Pooh!" said Alexander. "I tell you he won't. He'll quit. He's afraid the police are on to him anyhow."

"Milton ain't lodged no complaint. Nobody has or I'd have kicked de feller out first thing when you 'ol' me who he was. Nobody ain't goin' to touch him."

"And nobody ain't going to keep him when he sees that," added Isidora, pointing to the paragraph written in Alexander the Great's clearest handwriting.

"He needn't see it unless you blab, silly girl!" said her father. "What for should he read newspaper advertisements? I guess he got some'in' else to do."

"Somebody 'll tell him."

"People come here to eat, not talk. Anyhow dis goes!"

It went to several papers, and, though Alexander the Great paid only for the insertion of small paragraphs in the columns of the journals, he chuckled to himself in anticipation of receiving far more valuable advertisements gratis, not was he wrong.

In matters of business within the scope of his capabilities Alexander was seldom wrong. That was why he was great. True it might be that "Lord Loveland of the Waldorf-Astoria" (as Tony Kidd had dubbed him) was a back number and had been superseded in public esteem by at least two promising murderers and one extremely lively divorcee. But Tony Kidd's enterprising eye lit on Alexander's inspiration, while it was still as fresh as tomorrow's bread, in the issue of the New York Light, which was in the making, and Alexander's own paragraph was quaintly quotable.

"Lost at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel, the Marquis of Loveland. Found, ditto, at Alexander the Great's, in Twelfth street. If you want to be served by a lord dine at Alexander's for 25 cents, marquis included. You eat your dinner; Walter Loveland does the rest."

"He needn't see it," he estimated by at said her father.

least two promising murderers and one extremely lively divorcee. But Tony Kidd's enterprising eye lit on Alexander's inspiration, while it was still as fresh as tomorrow's bread, in the issue of the New York Light, which was in the making, and Alexander's own paragraph was quaintly quotable.

"Lost at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel, the Marquis of Loveland. Found, ditto, at Alexander the Great's, in Twelfth street. If you want to be served by a lord dine at Alexander's for 25 cents, marquis included. You eat your dinner; Walter Loveland does the rest."

Tony was very busy just then, having an important errand out of town by the first train in the morning. But he secretly commissioned an understudy to be at Alexander's when the red restaurant should open its doors to order breakfast and while seeming to eat to sketch the new English waiter. The understudy was not to question Loveland himself, but if possible Alexander, and was not to let the waiter see that he was under fire of attention. Notes of Loveland's appearance as well as a drawing must be made for Mr. Kidd's benefit.

When he came back from the country late in the afternoon, however, Mr. Kidd at once recognized the cleverly executed sketch. There was no longer any doubt in his mind that the young man who had slammed the door in his face at the Waldorf-Astoria was now "pie slinger" in a cheap downtown restaurant. Next morning there was half a column on a good page of the Light, including space for the understudy's line portrait of a tall young man in evening dress, with a coffee pot in one hand and a milk jug in the other, and even the printers grinned at the heading, "The Marquis of Twelfth Street—Newly Acquired Title."

A persistent ringing of the telephone in Fanny Milton's bedroom waked her out of a delightful dream.

She was on shipboard again. It was moonlight, and Lord Loveland was telling her that he really cared a great deal more for her than for Lesley Dearer. She confessed that she liked him, too, and he was just asking her to come and reign over Loveland castle as well as his heart when the distant though disturbing notes of an amateur concert in the music room of the Mauretania turned definitely into the shrill burr of that wretched telephone. The dream broke like a rainbow bubble, and Fanny sat up in bed, disappointed with life.

She seated herself by the telephone and snatched up the receiver as if she were going to shake it. But she soon settled down to an absorbing interest in the give and take of conversation with the instrument.

"Hello!" she said. "Who are you? Oh, Elinor Coolidge—what? Why, Elinor Coolidge, you don't mean it—waiting in a cheap restaurant! I don't believe it's true. In the paper? Well, there's nothing in that. I know a newspaper man myself. What? Oh, his name's Tony Kidd."

"Oh, Elinor, I think it would be horrid to make up a party and go to that restaurant. Yes; I like slumming and seeing bohemian places pretty well. I don't believe we'd find him there if we went, but all the same I don't want to. Why, I can't help it if you ask mamma to chaperon a party. I won't go. Nothing will make me. I think if you and mamma and your Comte de Rochevorte go you'll be just like ancient Romans watching the martyrs eaten up by lions. I believe you were a Roman woman in another state of existence. I won't talk about it any more. You can ring up mamma if you like. Goodbye!"

Down went the receiver, and back scrambled little Fanny Milton into her lavender scented bed, shivering, not with cold, but with emotion. Her telephone was silent at last, but she could not find her way into the dream again. The door of that dream was shut forever, and Fanny was not jealous even of Lesley.

GRAY HAIRS BANISHED.

The old idea of using sage for darkening the hair is again coming in vogue. Our grandmothers used to have dark, glossy hair at the age of seventy-five, while our mothers have white hair before they are fifty. Our grandmothers used to make a "sage tea" and apply it to their hair. The tea made their hair soft and glossy and gradually restored the natural color. One objection to using such a preparation was the trouble of making it, especially as it had to be made every two or three days on account of its souring quickly. This objection has been overcome and by asking almost any first-class druggist for Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur the public can get a superior preparation of sage, with the admixture of sulphur, another valuable remedy for hair and scalp troubles. Daily use of this preparation will not only quickly restore the color of the hair but will also stop the hair from falling out and make it grow. It is sold by all druggists for 50c. and $1.00 a bottle, or is sent direct by the Wyeth Chemical Company, 74 Cortlandt St., New York City, upon receipt of price.

Don't Burn Up Your New Dress

Scores of women will do it this winter, in some poor, old base burner; and they'll get very little warmth out of it, too.

Don't you think it would be a good idea to buy a First Class Favorite Base Burner, with Triple Exposed Flues, and save enough on your coal bills this winter to buy a new dress in the spring? It is a positive fact—the Favorite does burn less coal and throws out more heat than any other base burner made.

What Our Neighbors
Are Talking About

THEY WANT 'EM, TOO.

(Shelbyville Republican.)

The members of the committee on lights in the city council held a meeting recently with representatives of the Shelby County Water, Gas & Electric company in regard to placing lamps on the streets similar to those on the public square. If some kind of a deal is made, and it is understood that one will be put through before many weeks the lights will be placed on both sides of Harrison street from Taylor street to Pennsylvania street and from Tompkins street to Noble street.

THEY'LL ALL PROBABLY DO IT.

(Connersville Examiner.)

The pedestal street lights which the Light, Heat & Power company have been exhibiting for several nights, have attracted a good deal of attention and comment. There are some who have suggested that they might be used to advantage all over the business section of the city and one north Central resident is enthusiastic in the idea that it would be a fine stunt to line Central with them on both sides of the street the entire distance from Seventh street to the north end.

DESERVES ELECTION.

(Connersville Examiner.)

Mr. Barnard has thus far made a splendid canvass of the district and everything points to his triumphant election. But he is deserving of a large majority in the district and every vote counts in piling it up. Much has been said of Mr. Barnard's attitude in congress and when properly understood it is highly creditable to him. Mr. Barnard does not go around telling coarse jokes to draw a few guffaws from the unthinking but calmly and dispassionately tells where he stands on all vital issues and just why he stands there. Wherever he has been he has received a respectful hearing from good crowds. Connersville owes to itself as the second Republican city in the district to give Congressman Barnard and his distinguished colleague an audience that will crowd the hall.

FINLY FUNNY.

(Connersville News.)

They must have a rare taste for coarse, rude jokes at Shelbyville if Finly Gray got a hand-clap for the following hoary chestnut which is tantamount to classing farmers a bunch of fools. The Shelbyville Republican says:

Finly Gray in the course of his speech Friday night said: "A number of fellows who had during life believed in protective tariff, died and of course, went to h—". They were taken in charge by his satanic majesty and at once cast into the lake of fire prepared for such fellows. After due time it was observed that some of them did not, and would not burn. "Who are you, and you, and you, and you?" says old Felix, addressing the fellows who apparently were able to resist the fiery furnace. "Farmers," said they with loud acclaim. "Ah," said Felix, "too green to burn. I will put you in the dry house for a time."

MAY TALK LIGHTS AT MEET TONIGHT

Much Moated Discussion May Come up at Regular Session of City Council This Evening.

GOOD INTENTIONS LAST NIGHT

It was the intention of the city council to meet with a committee from the Rushville Retail Merchants' Association last night and consider the sidewalk light question, but the plans were spoiled, due to the fact that City Councilman Ed Kelly and A. T. Mahin, superintendent of the water and light plant, were in Greenfield as witnesses in the Morrow damage suit. The regular meeting of the city council will be held this evening and it is likely that the light question will come up then if all the members of the council are present. It is Mayor Black's belief that Mr. Mahin and Councilman Kelly will be back from Greenfield in time this evening for the council meeting. The council has never disposed of the boiler business and it is very probable that they will have some discussion on that this evening. In case there is a full attendance this evening it is not unlikely that the light question will be considered, as Mayor Black said this afternoon they do not care to take any action in regard to the light proposition until all of the members of the council are present.

A Car of Sixteen Jobs

These are the greatest finished jobs ever received in the city. They are finished like a Palace Car. The finish is like that on Col. Roosevelt's Touring Car. It has curtains at the windows and a rail for your shawls. Nothing like it ever made before in the United States.

I will say this is the best I ever looked at and I have been in the buggy business over 20 years. And this is no lie. If you will come and see this job you will say that I told you the truth for once. If you are thinking of getting you a winter's buggy, for the Lord's sake don't pass this job if it does cost you a few dollars more.

This job is furnished as nice as any piece of furniture you have in your house. Plenty of room and the best goods that can be bought. Don't buy till you see this one.

Mrs. May Donnan Entertains Study Class With Attention to Literary of Current Interest.

GREAT IMAGINATIVE WORK

Rushville ladies are greatly pleased over the growth of the study class conducted by Mrs. May W. Donnan of Indianapolis. The second regular meeting of the term was held in the parlors of the Main Street Christian church last Saturday afternoon.

As is the custom to give some attention to literary topics of current interest, preliminary to the regular lesson, Mrs. Donnan spoke of Maurice Maeterlinck's play "The Blue Bird." This is said to be one of the greatest works of the imagination that has been achieved in many years and Mrs. Donnan's review showed it to be a charming allegory of deep spiritual import and beautiful philosophy. One of Mrs. Donnan's best labors in the service of literature is her accurate interpretation of the great symbolistic writers who teach, not by didacticism, but by suggestion.

For the regular lesson on Legends in Literature, Mrs. Donnan talked about "Ixion;" she showed the philosophy that Robert Browning drew from the sufferings of Ixion and that the theory so often repeated by this poet, that there is a philosophy of hope in suffering and that we need defeat, sorrow and pain to gain character, is one of universal application.

There are over one hundred and seventy millions of acres under wheat cultivation in the world.

PEOPLE REMEMBERED

Bryan's Return to Indiana Recalls
Former Calamity Howls.

[Special Correspondence.]

Indianapolis, Oct. 18.—Prosperity hit W. J. Bryan full and fair on his calamity bone when he toured Indiana beginning last Friday. At Burlington, off the railroad, where Mr. Bryan had a fine crowd, there were at least 100 big touring cars, driven by farmers, by their wives, by their sons and by their daughters. At Auburn the crowd was one of the best dressed, contented looking throngs ever gathered for any purpose in Indiana. It was the same everywhere Mr. Bryan traveled. It was in one of his earlier speeches against Republican policies, several years ago—some ten years back, in fact,—that Mr. Bryan, with the unctious of a prophet, demanded that the people take heed to his vision. In that campaign he predicted in so many words that unless the doctrine of protection and sound money be overthrown and his ideas substituted that "famine and hunger will be with us and over the land. Remember what I say." And the people do remember. They sat back in their autos at Burlington, and—remembered. They took their ease contentedly, in well-dressed and wholesome pride at Auburn, Owensville, Jamestown, New Ross, and other places where Mr. Bryan spoke, and—remembered. And while they recalled the old time calamity shout, they grinned, and they wondered in well bred, quiet way, why Mr. Bryan made no allusion to prevailing prices.

The cry in 1896 in the Bryan campaign was for high prices and more money. The people have more money and better prices. Mr. Bryan, in his talks to farmers, did not refer even remotely to this fact. On the other hand, Mr. Bryan, in Indiana, is part of a campaign being made by Shively, Kern, and the Democratic organization, against existing commodity values, and in favor of lower prices. Indiana farmers, listening from their prosperity chariots in various rural centers, listened in vain for Mr. Bryan's demand for low prices, seconding Kern's cry. They heard Mr. Bryan praise Kern. They did not hear Mr. Bryan join Kern in demanding a return to low prices and low wages. These same farmers are watching at this time to see what Mr. Bryan will say Wednesday in Indianapolis on the subject of prices. They want to know if Mr. Bryan is singing high prices to farmers and low prices to working men. They want to know if he stands for low city wages in the country and low priced farm products in the city.

The general feeling is that Mr. Bryan's tour of Indiana has done Democrats more harm than good. Mr. Bryan does not stand on the Indiana Democratic platform either on national or state issues that are vital. The Democratic tariff plank in Indiana is a Joe Bailey plank which Mr. Bryan has denounced repeatedly in Texas. The city and township unit option plank of Democrats in Indiana is directly hostile against county unit option, and the latter is the one thing Mr. Bryan is fighting for today, because he thinks the county unit is right. Mr. Bryan has bolted Dahlgren, the Democratic candidate for governor in Nebraska because Dahlgren announces he will veto a county option bill if one is passed. In Indiana there is a county unit option law, in use, and more than 73,000 majority in counties where it has been tried, have declared for the maintenance of the law. Democrats propose to repeal it. And Mr. Bryan, bolting his ticket on that very issue in his own state, comes here to tell voters to stand by Taggartism and help to repeal the law. He bolts a man who threatens the law in Nebraska. He boasts the men who are pledged to repeal the same law, after it has been endorsed by a tremendous majority in Indiana.

Now W. J. Bryan is a good man. He works for good measures and for decent progress along many lines. He has been called on many times to describe some difficult twists and somersaults in order to keep regular and remain "available" within the Democratic party. He has always tried to be better than the Taggartists, Sullivan, Murphys, Ryans and Belmonts in his party. And he has always succeeded in that regard. He is keeping regular at this time. But his people know the facts. His followers in Indiana know how impossible it is for Mr. Bryan actually to favor or to forward the cause which Taggartism represents.

It has been significant in the Bryan meetings in the country all over Indiana that the people, men and women alike, have worn ribbons bearing the legend: "We are for temperance." And this is the best evidence that the people understand. They do not wear the insignia as an affront to Mr. Bryan. They know these ribbons do not affront, but rather please Mr. Bryan. And in all his audiences in the state, the temperance people have been busy passing to the crowd Mr. Bryan's arguments in favor of county option and against bossism. While Mr. Bryan was on the stump promulgating the doctrine dictated by Taggartism, his speeches for the cause of the people were being spread broadcast among the voters. So after all, the effect of Bryan's tour is not much of a problem, more than it was in 1904.

Mrs. Ann Walker, colored, who was born nine years after the Declaration of Independence was signed, is dead at Washington at the age of 124 years.

WHY MEN SEEK FLOWING BOWL

Alcoholism Not Always a Habit.

Says Dr. Hurty.

PSYCHOLOGICAL CONDITIONS

Answering an Interesting Question.
Secretary of the Indiana State Board of Health Says It Is Sometimes a Psychological Discontent That Leads Men to Drink—Strange Expedients to Overcome "Blues."

Indianapolis, Oct. 18.—"It probably will surprise some people and cause them to smile incredulously to be told that the desire for stimulants sometimes has a psychological origin," said Dr. Hurty, secretary of the Indiana state board of health, when the question was asked, "Why do so many men of talent and ability drink whisky?" The use of stimulants and drugs was under discussion and mention was made of Balzac's excessive use of coffee, DeQuincy's use of opium and Poe's alcoholic proclivities. "How can it possibly be that psychological conditions ever lead to drinking or drug addiction?" was asked when Dr. Hurty made the statement.

"It is true," said the doctor, "that not only men of talent or genius, but frequently ordinary people, have seasons of psychological discontent and dissatisfaction, seasons when they long and long after an ill-defined something. They don't know what it is, but they want something. They have states of vague discomfort, slight or marked discontent, and ennui. This feeling terminates with a longing for some definite sensation or action, generally excitement.

"Pain is sometimes sought to relieve the strain. A prominent neurologist tells of a patient of his, a psychasthenic, who several times slowly dropped boiling water upon her naked feet when the state of discontent or longing came upon her. The pain from the scalding was more tolerable than the blues. This patient would most probably have found relief in alcohol, had she been a man and brought into contact with his men generally are, or in drugs, if her physician had given her medicines.

"More than one-half of a neurologist's patients suffer from no organic disease, but are in need of instruction how to direct and control their nervous life. The misdirected nervous life, the failure to control emotions, frequently leads to drinking, to suicide or the insane hospital. It is therefore true that drunkenness is not principally a disease, but is the result of a defective or diseased nervous system. The foundations of nervous diseases are generally laid in childhood and are the results of ignorant parenthood."

MET HERO'S DEATH

To Save Fast Train Muncie Section
Hand Gave His Own Life.

Muncie, Ind., Oct. 18.—That the fast Southwestern Limited on the Big Four might not be wrecked and another horror be added to the many of recent weeks, William Bortfield, a 39 a week section hand, met a hero's death.

Three hundred passengers whom he had saved, paid fearful tribute to his memory. Bortfield, riding a heavy handcar, while inspecting track, looked up to see the big train of Pullmans rushing down upon him at a mile a minute. He jumped from his car.

Then he went back to take the handcar from the track, evidently hoping to avert a wreck. He succeeded, but the train struck him and he was lifeless when picked up.

BURN OLD CLOTHES

Health Board at Logansport Down on Rummage Sales.

Logansport, Ind., Oct. 18.—The city board of health has closed two rummage sales conducted by church charity organizations and issued orders that in the future no more rummage sales will be permitted. On instructions from the board of health, the matron at the Orphans' home burned about a wagon load of castoff clothing which had been collected by the Orphans' home board and sent to the institution. It is thought that the epidemic of scarlet fever in the Orphans' home last winter was due to clothing which came from rummage sales.

Big Crowd Expected.

Indianapolis, Oct. 18.—The meeting at Tomlinson hall next Thursday evening under the auspices of the local branch of the United Irish League, to welcome the Irish Home Rule advocates, John E. Redmond and James Devlin, members of the British House of Commons, is expected to fill the hall to its capacity. William C. Harris, former minister to Austria-Hungary, has been chosen to preside.

Crimes Trial Begins.

The typhoid fever situation in the fire-stricken towns of northern Minnesota is daily becoming more alarming.

WELLMAN GIVES NO
ANSWER TO INQUIRY

Big Balloon Apparently Out Of Wireless Range.

New York, Oct. 18.—The wireless people are continually fishing the air for Walter Wellman and the dirigible America, but there is no answer to the incessant call, "WN," stridulating from steamships in the North Atlantic lanes and from the many public and private stations along the coast.

At the rate Wellman and his crew were sending along the America, the airship, if still aloft, should be off Sable Island, N. S., but the Marconi station at Camperdown, N. S., could not connect up with Jack Irwin, the wireless operator of the America. Wireless word has been received from twenty-five Atlantic liners, none of which mentioned the America, although all of them presumably had been calling to Irwin for a tip as to his whereabouts. Many of them were in positions where they might have been expected to hook up aials with the America. With no word from Wellman since 12:40 p. m. Sunday, when Jack Irwin flashed that all was well, the friends of the America's crew are getting anxious. There is absolutely no indication as to where the dirigible has veered, whether she is still pegging away toward Ireland or whether she had dropped somewhere on top of the United States or Canada's basement.

If the America is still sailing, she has beaten all records for continuous flight of dirigibles, possibly all records for endurance by gas bags. Count Zeppelin on May 31, 1909, sailed his dirigible 37 hours, traveling more than 850 miles. At noon today, if the America was still going, her captain Melvin Vanniman, had sailed her 75 hours and 47 minutes. At Atlantic City, Wellman's backers are figuring that he has traveled at least 1,000 miles.

Roosevelt Again Campaigning.

Troy, N. Y., Oct. 18.—Mr. Roosevelt beat his way up the Hudson Monday in the interests of Mr. Stimson and the Republican ticket. He spent most of his time lambasting John A. Dix, whom he treated with the bitterest scorn. He attacked him at every opportunity.

Conspiracy Cases Called.

Louisville, Oct. 18.—J. J. Keane, T. J. Needham, T. T. O'Leary and C. G. Shcott, charged with a criminal conspiracy to defraud Indianapolis insurance companies by taking bad risks, are on trial in the criminal division of the Jefferson county circuit court.

Modern Life Would Be Too Hard on the Nerves If
It Were Not For Want
Advertising

The pace of life has become tense. Worries, disappointments, up-sets at home and office, losses, discouragements seem to multiply as daily life becomes more complex.

The property owner, who MUST have a steady income from rents or lose his property, is "racked" by the untimely defection of a tenant. Some classified advertising quickly retrieves his loss—and quiets his nerves!

The salary-earner unexpectedly loses his position—and his peace-of-mind. The strain would shortly "break" something in his nervous system, if, once more, want advertising did not find the better job—and restore him his mental equilibrium.

In every phase of the city's life, every day, the Want Ads play the part of the peace-maker. They SERVE you and me at some crisis in our lives—and keep the modern pace and tension from proving too fast and tight for US.

Truly, the Want Ads ARE FOR SERVICE!
